Important Information

Dear Data Vendor,

SIX Swiss Exchange is amending its data access procedures to bring them in line with industry standards. As of the 1 January 2014, a dedicated account will be required to fully access and download data from the SIX Swiss Exchange Market Data Indices website and data vendors will be required to permission end-user access to SIX Swiss Exchange index composition data. Additionally it will be necessary for data vendors to have entered into a gateway agreement with SIX Swiss Exchange. More detailed information regarding pricing and packaging of the index composition data as well as the necessary agreements will be available at the end of July 2013.

As of 1 January 2014 end-users wishing to access index composition data will be required to sign a data license agreement. End-user notification will begin at the end of July 2013. STOXX Ltd. is acting as sales & marketing agent for SIX Swiss Exchange indices and will be handling the contract management process with end-user firms.

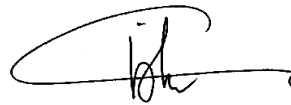

The closed-user-group for SIX Swiss Exchange indices will be available as of 1 October 2013. The current access to the index composition data will run in parallel until 31 December 2013. As of 1 January 2014, access is limited to registered users under the respective agreements.

Kind regards,
