SIX Telekurs – Hits the 5 million mark

11th December 2008
Media Release no. 11/08

Zurich / Switzerland – SIX Telekurs recently announced that its world-class database now covers information on over 5 million international financial instruments. This impressive total is a significant milestone for the company. Not only is it successfully positioning itself as a challenge to the larger players in the market, it also shows that the significant structural changes the company has undergone in the last year have very much paid off.

The number of financial instruments covered by SIX Telekurs' leading reference database has witnessed steep continual growth for the past year. This additional data has strengthened SIX Telekurs' position in the market, and has clearly shown that the company is able to offer real alternatives to competitor products. The surge in financial data covered by the company is in part due to the acquisition of Fininfo SA (France) and SIX AB (Sweden) in the past year. However, it is also due to the company's focused strategy for the pursuit of exhaustive and reliable data.

Ivo Bieri, Head of Marketing at SIX Telekurs, commented on this impressive total saying, "We are delighted to make this announcement, and to show our customers that we continually seek to improve our services. Our ever-expanding coverage illustrates our commitment to deliver excellence, to broaden our local presence as well as our international reach. Core to our strategy is the idea of positioning ourselves as a leading source of comprehensive financial information and services to the financial industry, and this is a stepping-stone towards this goal."
